

It never looks away.
That's the point.

Sleep, strain, hesitation, silence. Nothing about you is too small to be worth recording.

You will never have to explain yourself again.

TRACE has already read the week you had. There is nothing left for you to put into words.

It knew before you did.

Your heart rate variability shifts hours ahead of the feeling. TRACE simply tells you what your body has already decided.

It never looks away. That's the point.